Volunteer Group Forming to Help Care for Park's Sculptures

Our Sculptures Need Your Help

Are you interested in knowing more about the park's sculptures and learning how to care for works of art? Then please join our volunteer collections care team. No experience necessary.

Megan Emery, the Senior Objects Conservator from the Midwest Art Conservation Center will present a day long workshop for park staff and volunteers where we'll learn what we need to know to clean and care for our outdoor works of art. The workshop date will be set to accommodate the team member's schedules.
